ADVERTISING GULF COAST OF MISS. IN PAPERS OF NORTH

Mississippi Gulf Coast Receiving Publicity This Winter Like Never Before—Chicago Daily News Carries Special Story for Coast.

Newspapers of the North and Middle West are carrying Coast publicity the like of which has never been equaled. The Chambers Advertising Agency, of New Orleans, early in the season mapped out an extensive program for Mississippi Gulf Coast publicity. Bay St. Louis came in for a small share, the money for which was raised by Mayor Webb over the city. Biloxi, ever wide-awake, raised an unusually large sum, backed by the hotels, and Biloxi is going over big in the number of newspapers reaching this office.

This story was written especially for the Tourist Booster Edition of the Chicago Daily News, and the Echo reproduces it in full. Copies of newspapers carrying Gulf Coast advertising are on file with the Echo and can be seen by calling at this office. Our people of the Coast are not aware of the heavy advertising campaign in progress.

The story in the Daily News, Chicago, follows:

"Travel from the North to the delightful Mississippi Gulf Coast—'The Riviera of America'—is heavier this winter than ever before, and preparations for taking care of tourists have been made on a larger scale. All along the Coast new hotels, boarding houses and cottages for rent have been put into commission. Here visitors enjoy real old Southern hospitality and rest and recreation away from the rigors of snowland."

"Year by year this section has been coming into greater prominence and popularity. It is within easy access to the larger cities of the Middle West and the North, both by train and by automobile. Just think, from Chicago by train, only twenty-four hours!"

"The climate of the Mississippi Gulf Coast is delightful—never too hot or too cold—both bracing and invigorating, with clear, bright sunshine very near every day in the year. Golf is supreme here. Sporty courses are located at Biloxi, Gulfport, Pass Christian, Shell Beach and Bay St. Louis. Well-kept fairways and fine greens are an inspiration to play, and play to one's heart content. Other outdoor sports, such as horseback riding, motorboating on the shell roads, wonderful fishing, hunting, boating and trap shooting, are available under the best conditions."

"The principal towns along the Coast have a high class of permanent residents, who make up the best social life for visitors—and the better class of tourists and visitors go to these resorts. Railroad schedules afford convenient access to New Orleans and Mobile."

"The Echo is of the opinion the story is good. It will be read by over a million people. Referring to the Gulf Coast display advertising, for which Bay St. Louis helped raise part of the funds, it will be interesting to learn the advertising is appearing in the following named newspapers, dates of appearance and circulation of each publication named, as follows:

ABOUT WOMEN.

Mrs. Cassandra Stein died recently at her home in York, Pa., at the age of 101. She had been a confirmed pipe-smoker since she was 12 years old and often declared that her pipe was a comfort in times of distress and a comrade when she was lonely.

Representatives of women's suffrage organizations in Italy were cordially received by Premier Mussolini, who assured them that he would endeavor to have a suffrage law passed during the coming year.

Shortly after the publication of her magazine article, entitled "An Interesting 'Beast' Story," Miss Rita Weismann, the well-known author and dramatist, married Maurice Marks, an advertising man.

Former Grand Duchess Cyril, of Russia, recently arrived in the United States to thank the American people for the aid they have given to the starving population of her unhappy country.

Miss Dorothy Henry is chief of the women's department of the Cleveland police force, in which there are fifteen female officers. She is making a tour of the larger cities of the country to observe police methods.

Business Section of New Orleans "States" Discusses Success of Edwards Motor Co.—Jno. T. Edwards, President.

In the course of a business review the New Orleans Evening States pays tribute to the success of the Edwards Motor Company, of which John T. Edwards, of Bay St. Louis-New Orleans, is president, in its issue of Tuesday.

Among other things, the States says: "The Edwards Motor Company, which was founded in March, 1917, has enjoyed a remarkable growth during its existence. It began with a one-story building containing the offices, stock rooms and show rooms. This building measured over 28 by 54 feet. The first shop measured only 14 by 40 feet. Now the company is housed in a two-story building, with over 33,000 square feet of floor space, located at 4638 Carrollton avenue.

In 1920 we were the smallest. Ford agency in New Orleans," says Mr. Edwards, "and now we are the largest."

"The Edwards Motor Company is doing a big business in used cars. As John K. Edwards, president of the company, puts it, the used cars that the company sells 'stay sold,' with no complaints from the purchasers. Mr. Edwards says this is true because the used cars are always fairly represented to the prospective purchasers, and every sale means good value for the price.

"A. T. Staples, who has been in the automobile business for years, is the salesman in charge of the Edwards Motor Company with his sales of used cars. During last October he set a high mark by selling over $14,000 worth of used cars in that single month. His record has run as high as 93 sales of used cars in a month, with no soliciting. In selling used cars, Mr. Staples says that he always tells the purchaser just what he is getting, believing that fairness is always the best policy.

"E. V. Younger, a man of long experience in the motor car business, is the salesman in charge of the Olson two-ton units handled by the Edwards Motor Company. He will be glad to furnish any information desired about their practicability."

STUDY CLUB MEETING MONDAY

The regular meeting of the Study Club will be held on Monday, at the home of Mrs. John Osolnach. There will be reports on the contemplated tourist camp, curb market and other activities. Mrs. Horton is chairman of the committee on tourist camp. Mrs. Fournier on curb market.

Mrs. Power, Mrs. C. C. McDonald and Dr. Shipp are on the program, assuring us a most interesting and instructive afternoon.

69,000 DRY LAW ARRESTS IN 1925.

Washington, Dec. 23.—During the last twelve months more than 69,000 persons were arrested for violation of the prohibition laws, according to records of the prohibition department.

Fines and forfeitures aggregating $5,700,000 in criminal cases were collected.

Records show that there are now approximately 32,000,000 gallons of whiskey still in government bonded warehouses.—Associated Press dispatch.

Is this the answer to "Is prohibition a failure or success?"

Possibly having in mind the many criticisms of the law's delays, Judge Ross, of Memphis, sent a man to the penitentiary, under a misapprehension of the legal status of the case. The sentence and the man were recalled when the error was discovered, but as the prisoner is said to have been caught with 2,000 bottles of home brew in his possession, it will probably not make much difference to him in the long run.

At a recent series of wrestling matches in Okmulgee, Okla., many women were present, a preacher acted as referee and a portion of the proceeds were given to the Salvation Army. Christmas Eve is that as an example of clean sport?

Mirrors placed on the rear end of street cars in such manner as to force passengers to face forward in order to see themselves, consequently placing themselves in a position to alight correctly, is the clever device of German student of psychology. Women are especially inclined to alight with faces to the rear and the mirrors are said to correct this dangerous practice. We suspect that most men take a sly glance at the silvered glass, also.

Murder will out. It is said to have been discovered that Arthur Wayne, of Mountain Lakes, N. J., is responsible for the present cross-word puzzle craze, he having originated the game for the entertainment of his children. His is only the revival in an attractive form of an old idea, however, as the cross-word puzzle with one simple square has been in existence for many years. Johns Hopkins museum claims to have a cross-word puzzle that is 4,000 years old.

A New York book store owner, with a local reputation as a prophet, predicts a new world war for 1925, in which the Moslems of the East will combine to fight independence. While we do not expect such an occurrence so soon, the unrest now apparently increasing in Northern Africa and India is sufficient to give the European powers grave concern.

SPECIAL ELECTION TO BE HELD IN COUNTY JANUARY 3

To Determine on $160,000 Proposed Bond Issue For Building Connecting Link to Hancock County Highways—Officers for Election.

Under the provisions of Chapter 207, Laws 1920, a special election will be held in Hancock county to determine whether or not the county will issue road and bridge bonds in the amount of $160,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary.

This election will be held on Saturday, January 3, 1925. The proposed bonds are for the purpose of constructing and completing the following roads and providing the right of way therefor and construction of bridges on said public roads, namely: Poplarville Road, Cascer Road, Wavolaville Road, from depot to Old Spanish Trail, Bay-Kill Road from Bay St. Louis to McLeod's Ridge Road, Weston Farm from intersection of Logtown-Picayune Road to Old Spanish Trail.

There is no doubt the election will carry. The money is for the purpose of building the connecting link to the county's splendid highways, which, if not connected up, so as to serve over the county, will suffer general usefulness and largely in a measure defeat the purpose for which built. The plan is to serve the entire county and the people from every section.

The following named voters have been appointed by the Hancock County Board of Election Commissioners to serve as officers for the holding of the special election on Saturday, January 3:

Alaska is said to have once had a temperate climate, as no vegetation which now exists there could have formed its great coal deposits.

CHRISTMAS CANTATA GIVEN WITH CHARM.

Well Trained Voices Render "The Promised Child"—Beautiful A. fair at First Methodist Church. Piano Accompaniment by Mrs. Partridge.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather of Sunday night, a fair-sized crowd assembled at the First Methodist Church, corner Main and Second streets, to attend services and to hear the Christmas Cantata, "The Promised Child," rendered by a number of selected voices, trained by Mrs. H. U. Canty and Miss E. Lacoste.

Actively participating in the cantata were Mrs. H. U. Canty, Mrs. George R. Rea, Mrs. Long, Mrs. W. W. Stockstill, Misses E. Lacoste, Hermione and Mary Perkins, Mrs. E. S. Drake, Messrs. E. S. Drake, Wilbur Driver, George R. Rea and Dr. J. A. Evans. Solos were rendered by Mrs. Rea, Mrs. Long, Mrs. Canty, Miss Lacoste and Miss Mary Perkins and Dr. Evans.

The voices showed careful and successful training and the rendition as a whole gave every evidence of intelligent and successful study. The cantata as a musical composition is appealing and much of the success of the evening was due to the splendid piano accompaniment, Mrs. Winfield Partridge.

General regret was expressed at the inability of Mrs. Owen Allison and Mr. D. C. Griffith to participate in the cantata due to illness. Both had studied and rehearsed for the recital until almost the last day when illness intervened.

It is seldom Bay St. Louis is given such beautiful and complete a musical recital and the hope is expressed that similar affairs will take place at no distant date. It was fitting to the Christmas festival season and added largely to the program of the First Methodist Church's program of celebration. Rev. Galloway, pastor, expressed appreciation of the beautiful program, at the conclusion of which practically everyone present added their pleasure and congratulations.

COMMUNITY XMAS TREE MADE MANY HAPPY.

Over Three Hundred Children Enjoyed Visit from Santa at Community Tree Celebration Monday Night—Handsome Toys.

On Monday night the children of Bay St. Louis and vicinity were entertained at the College Gym by a number of local good people who arranged a large Christmas tree and dispensed numerous presents of toys and fruit.

The big gym was packed with a great number of boys and girls and each child was presented with a suitable presents and a bag containing fruit and candy.

Santa Claus, in the person of a well known lover of kids, made his appearance in the usual garb and delighted the little hearts by his timely presence and kindly greeting.

Santa was seemingly at his best. Gay jolly and his love for the children was flowing over. The tree was typically beautiful and the gifts dispensed were handsome and of unusual size and value. Santa was certainly liberal and evidently selected the best boys in his shop.

Brother Peter was doorkeeper and distributed the tickets to the boys and girls. He again, with his usual modesty, displayed his well known executive ability, expediting the duties incumbent upon him for the time being in the best of manner.

Mrs. E. J. Lacoste, president, and Mrs. John A. Green, vice president of Neighborhood Circle No. 1, under the auspices of which organization the tree was given to the community, were active and ably assisted by a number of ladies and brothers of the college.

Preceding the arrival of Santa Claus a number of Christmas carols were sung, with Mrs. Green at the piano.

In all, the community tree celebration was an entertainment of delightful memory in every phase and brought joy to many a little heart. The ladies in charge and others who helped with their contributions to make the event a success certainly have the choicest blessings of heaven as their reward, to say nothing of the satisfaction that must be theirs in the knowledge of making others happy—especially the children.

The funeral of Santa Loicacano, who died at New Orleans Christmas night, is set for tomorrow, from the late residence in this city. Quite a number of young men of this city have banded and raised a generous fund to show their expression of sympathy and general regret by the purchase of a floral "casket blanket."

Santa was a general favorite, not only with a wide circle of young people but by all who knew him.

—Mr. and Mrs. D. Daugeant have returned home from New Orleans where they spent Christmas at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. Engle. Mr. Daugeant is a member of the Wavoland Board of Mayor and Aldermen.

Mrs. Mary A. Lund, of Litchfield, N. H., was born and lived for 100 years in the house where she recently died.

General Gerardo Machado, liberal, defeated former President Menocal in the recent Cuban presidential election.

HARDEST BATTLE EVER FOUGHT IS CLAIM OF AGGIES

Mississippi A. and M. Eleven on S. S. C. Basketball Court Saturday Night—Local Red Devils Hold Score Down.

On Saturday night the Mississippi A. and M. quintette took the Stanislaus basketball shooters into camp by a score of 22 to 11 points, but in doing so the Aggies had the "hardest" job they ever tackled, to quote one of the team, "and," he continued, "we hope never to have that job again."

The Aggies, one must remember, were the champs of last year's S. I. C. having defeated the almost peerless Green Wave of Tulane at the Atlanta tournament. As a natural consequence, the mastodan-like proportions of such an antagonist go to the nerves of the little Red Devils, and the whole bunch had a case of "jimmies." They expected to be defeated—but by a "larger score." When the first half came to an end with the score board reading 7 to 4, favor A. and M., things looked fierce for the visitors; they were not sharing the championship calibre expected by the spectators.

Packed House.

Some time before the starting whistle blew, the big gym was filled with an eager crowd of spectators, who were drawn hither to see the champs in action for the first time on the Coast, and they got their money's worth. The additional tier of seats that had recently been installed at the east end of the gym proved to be an excellent acquisition, else many would have been obliged to stand.

The Aggie surprise came early in the first half, when they quickly realized that the prep school's quintette were stronger than they reckoned. Where A. and M. had closed their first half with Baylor University by a 20 to 2 score, the best they could muster against Stanislaus was two goals and three fouls for a total of seven points, and shortly after the beginning of the second period, when Bontemp caged a basket, the score stood 9 to 7, favor the Red Devils.

That threw something of a scare into the Aggie's coach, for he quickly sent in his strong reinforcements, who, by three goals and a number of perfectly placed free shots, put them in a safer position.

The guarding of Bonura by an Aggie was a feature, for the big boy was held goalless in the first period and only managed two in the last, although he repeatedly had narrow misses.

The whole game was replete with fouls, both technical and personal. Ed. Watts, assisted by "Hippi" Phillips, officiated.

Flowers and Cake.

Just before the game two young ladies, Misses Hermie Perkins and Leona Gilbert, presented the Aggies with a basket of beautiful roses that were as near the A. and M. colors as possible (maroon and white). The captain of the team responded with thanks.

A number of the local fair sex, staunch supporters of the Rock-A-Chaws, presented the Red Devils with a beautiful cake that was decorated in as near the college colors as possible. Captain Bonura accepted with a few well chosen words of appreciation.

Court Comments.

Not such a cinch after all—What? This Prep quintette of Stanislaus little but loud.

Heydel looked like he had lost a family when they called four personal on him and took him out. Having still a bad foot forces him often into what looks like a foul as he tries to protect it.

This was the first game that ever discovered a nerve in Big Zeke. He simply could not find the basket—had the big boy been in Baylor form—well.

Ellis Sylvester looked like old times dashing about the court.

A spectator whispered to us that he knew that Ed Watts was raised on a farm, for he could tell by the number of fouls he called. Force of habit, eh?

A musical event of Christmas was the musical program for mid-night mass at the Church of Our Lady of the Gulf, arranged and conducted by Mrs. John A. Green, organist. Mrs. H. C. Glover, the soprano soloist, and Mr. A. A. Scifide, male lead, including the splendid chorus, rendered Rosewight's Mass in F, with more than ordinary effect. Mrs. Glover's beautiful voice was heard to advantage.

—Mr. C. I. Waller, member of the law firm of Gex & Waller, while on his way to New Orleans a few days since, stopped off for a day and mingled with Bay St. Louis friends, while Mrs. Waller and the baby continued on to New Orleans to visit relatives. Mr. Waller is in charge of the Florida office, at Tallahassee, for the firm and it is interesting to learn of Gex & Waller's success in that section.

—Miss Claire Combel is here from Mobile, Ala., visiting her cousins, the Misses Dubuc, and will attend the ball of Les Bohemiennes tonight.

WOODMEN TO GIVE NEW YEAR EVE BALL.

Well Known Local Organization to Entertain Wednesday Night—To Dance the Old Year Out and New Year In—Good Time Anticipated.

To dance the old year out and the new one in is the expressed purpose of the entertainment committee of the local Woodmen, Cedar Grove Camp No. 507. Accordingly, on next Wednesday night, at Woodmen Hall, the camp will give its annual New Year Eve ball, and if the weather is propitious a large attendance is reasonably expected. Already word is received there will be quite a delegation from Kiln and intermediate points, Wavoland, Lakeshore and Logtown.

A thrice Happy New Year!
"Boost" will be the pass word for 1925.

The Echo, $2.00 per annum—always in advance.

A political quack often becomes a lame duck.

When we write the truth it isn't so necessary to keep a carbon copy.

Higher institutions of learning have turned out some classy football coaches.

An exchange uses considerable space to tell us that the great auk is still extinct.

The problem of assimilating our Chinese population is being lessened by the tong war.

Few voted in the recent Irish elections. It must have been some sport for a fighting Irishman.

Hancock county's big gift for the people in 1925 is the completion of an elaborate and extensive program for good roads.

That fellow who claims to have discovered a "truth serum" probably did not take it himself.

Since scientists have approved the cross-ward puzzle we may expect to see it lose popularity.

The Navy is demanding bigger appropriations, probably for powder to blow up the rest of the fleet.

Bolshevik officials now wear evening dress, but probably don't have to wrestle with the bow tie.

Some folks will be unhappy in heaven if there is no one around whom they can look down upon.

F. C. Yates, of Greenville, Mo., defeated his wife for the office of coroner by a majority of 328 votes.

Chinese girls should have no difficulty in learning stenography; there is no spelling in that language.

If the gas expended over Muscle Shoals could have been harnessed, the water power would not be needed.

Excessive tidiness is said to indicate a kind of insanity—from which most people around a newspaper office are immune.

G. H. Dern beat C. R. Mabey for governor of Utah with the slogan: "We want a Dern good governor and we don't mean Mab."

Five Indiana hunters paid a fine of $420 after eating a dinner of venison killed unlawfully. The deer was dear.

The 52-story building planned for the University of Pittsburgh should do much to promote higher learning.

Mississippi's Gulf Coast has entered for the new year on an era of better building and more prosperity. At no time has the Coast been on the threshold of so much development.

The Echo appreciates and is thankful to one and all of its patrons, both in the newspaper and printing department, for good will, favors and all consideration.

Bay St. Louis and Waveland Civic League will find a vast field for activities and for potential growth. We welcome such body for 1925, believing there is much work to be done, and that it will be done.

With the completion of improvements in progress over the L. & N. and between New Orleans and the Mississippi Coast, "great expectations" are to be realized during 1925 in possibly better service and surely quicker schedule.

THINK THIS OVER FOR 1925.

The gift that is most appreciated, at any time of the year, is a gift that satisfies, and the gift that satisfies is always a sensible one. If it lasts the whole year round, that is the finest gift of all. Considering the cost, can you imagine a gift that would afford one-tenth the pleasure to a friend or relative in some distant locality as a year's subscription to the home-town paper? You can't write to them every week, and yet they want to know what is going on back in the old home town and community. Each week when they get The Echo they will think of you, and bless you for your thoughtfulness. Why not send or bring a subscription for at least one friend or relative and let us notify them that you have been considerate and kind enough to make it possible for them to get this paper an entire year—a present that is sensible, that is appreciated and that brings cheer every week of the 52. You'd want it if you were away from home, wouldn't you? Then, 1925, let it be known that the one who has not

May All Your Hopes Come True.

We've often wondered what this old world would degenerate into if there was no such thing as Hope; we've often tried to picture just how much misery we would be forced to go through if we were not gifted with the happy faculty of looking into the future and believing that tomorrow will be brighter than today.

And as we come to the birth of a New Year such reflections pour in upon us thick and fast. We reach the season of new Hope, the day when we can close up the book of the year, open up a new one and Hope that every page of it will still be bright and clean when it, too, is ready to lay away with the others.

Insofar as Bay St. Louis is concerned, we believe the most of our citizens can lay away the record of the departed year without regrets. Our people have prospered to the point where they have no reason for discontent. There have been shadows along with the sunshine, it is true, but they only served to make us richer in experience and stronger in our ability to scarify when it must be done. We have lived happily as a community, growing stronger in each other's friendship and happier as days rolled into weeks and weeks into months. We have come to know each other better, and that added knowledge has served to make us more appreciative of our town and the community about it.

There have been needed improvements postponed, but that same Hope which fills our hearts at the beginning of a New Year leads us to believe they will receive attention in 1925. There have been some things left undone, but these can be disposed of along with our new tasks if we will only determine now that the year 1925 shall see more actual good for the entire community accomplished than in any previous year in our history.

To dwell in detail and to discuss actual matters, the hope is expressed for 1925 Waveland will get its sea wall, Bay St. Louis will get its bridge over the bay, the city of Bay St. Louis will get its cement sidewalks, Bay St. Louis children will get their new $100,000 public school building, Front street will be paved, and last, but by no means least, the highway to New Orleans will be finished!

The outlook for these improvements and for a Happy and a Prosperous New Year was never brighter, and we believe the feeling here is generally to that effect. We believe the people of Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Hancock county and the Sea Coast in general, realize, as a rule, that we must co-operate in the fullest if we keep pace with other communities elsewhere and for our immediate section we must co-operate if we get all the benefits to which our town is entitled.

The old spirit of being content to let well enough alone is fast dying out—today our people want a better town, with better streets and better schools and better highways into the outside world than they have ever had in the past. It is the spirit of progress, the desire for all these things, and with each and every citizen putting his shoulder to the wheel there is no reason why the year 1925 should not see us possessed of all of the things we hope for.

We want to renew the pledge of The Echo, as a community institution, to aid in every way all movements that come up for the betterment of our town and its people, as well as those things which will advance the interests of our county and our State. All that we ask in return is that to which every honestly-conducted newspaper is entitled—the support and co-operation of the people of the community. We want to do all in our power to make the hope of every citizen for a still more prosperous and a happier community come true.

Here is our New Year wish that all of your Hopes will come true in 1925. Here is our wish that the year 1925 will bring you a greater measure of health and happiness, prosperity and contentment, than you have ever known before.

DEATH OF LABOR'S CHIEF.

Regardless of one's views on the aims and policies of organized labor, it cannot be denied that the death of Samuel Gompers, a few days ago, removes a true American citizen, whose influence was honestly directed toward the preservation of industrial peace, as well as to aiding the cause of labor.

Born in England in 1850 of Dutch Jewish parents, he came to America at the age of 13 and became identified with the labor movement while working at his trade as a cigar maker. He aided in organizing his own craft and also in the formation of the American Federation of Labor, of which he was president for forty-two years.

As labor leaders go, Gompers was a conservative, opposed to the more radical elements which have, during recent years, attempted to gain control of the great organization.

His loyal support of the government during the world war and his condemnation of Russian Soviet rule were outstanding features of his activity during his later years. He was a member of the advisory committee of the Council of National Defense during the war and represented the American Federation of Labor at the Paris peace conference. He was also president of the International Commission on Labor Legislation at the peace congress, and his influence in labor matters was world-wide.

Probably no American citizen, not in official position, has left a greater impression on the economic and industrial life of the United States than Samuel Gompers.

The election of William Green as his successor has already caused a rift in the ranks of the American Federation of Labor, where the loss of the dead chief's guiding hand will be most keenly felt.

LAW'S CAN'T DO IT.

We frequently hear someone exclaim, shortly after a distressing auto accident, that "there should be a law against such things." The average man seemingly doesn't stop to think that it is not a case of not having enough laws that is handicapping this country but a case of having too many laws that are not enforced. The law of common sense will do more to prevent auto accidents than all the laws on the statute books. If a driver is determined to be careless, the law isn't going to keep him from killing or injuring someone; and neither is the law going to stop him from speeding if he is determined to take a chance on being caught. It isn't more laws that we need to cut down the toll of death and injury from automobiles—it is the education of drivers to the point where they will use common sense and good judgment and to where they will keep constantly in mind the fact that they are not good citizens unless they do all in their power to protect the lives and property of others.

A New York editor says but one gift out of five is worth anything. That may be true, but the gift that is most appreciated is always a sensible one.

THRILLS FOR SPEEDERS.

Whether it is actually put into practice or not, we cannot vouch, but a plan of dealing with speeders reported from a California town has much to commend it.

As a punishment for reckless driving, the offender is forced to take a ride in an airplane, piloted by an expert, who shoots through space at terrific speed, with variations in the way of dips, tail spins and a few loops. This treatment is said to be very effective in taking the speed mania out of the culprit and causing him to dread a second "sentence."

Automobile speeders are not, as a rule, particularly courageous. Generally they are just plain fools, who do not realize the danger to which they subject themselves and others. The treatment described above seems quite appropriate.

BROADCASTINGS.

A man of few words hasn't any business trying to solve these new cross-word puzzles.

A lot of people will be unhappy in heaven when they find they can't pass any laws or institute any reforms.

A Seattle dancer fell and broke her nose. She must have been doing the "aviation glide."

There are a few people who can show you your faults with as much pleasure as if they were pointing out the sights of the town to a stranger.

The good auto drivers do not die young—but they make a lot of others do so.

Haven't you noticed that some fellows put in more energy shirking than they would need to put in working?

We heard a man say that they call it a "bumper crop" when the prices bump the farmers.

Our definition of a "flapper" is a girl who thinks that the most important thing in the world is getting her complexion on straight.

We sometimes feel that a good many divorces could be avoided if the cooking schools of the country had more scholars.

It doesn't do any good for parents to worry over their children—all they do is worry their children by it.

A thrifty man thinks he is a good spender, but that isn't a modern girl's idea of a good spender.

They say the stock market is running wild, but it won't be half as wild as some of the fellows who are now trying to keep up with it will be a little later on.

One thing every mother knows, that it is a harder job to train a husband than it is to train a child.

Somewhere or another we came very near letting this Christmas get by without wondering if the necktie your wife gave you suited you.

Another thing we've never been able to figure out is what the car makes him do that he doesn't do when he's not driving.

FAMOUS COAST HOSIERY OPENS FOR WINTER.

Biloxi's Buena Vista Formally Opens Winter Season—Dinner Dance on Monday Night—Brilliant Affair—Hotel Has Permanent Orchestra.

Hotel Buena Vista, Biloxi's modern hosiery, under the management of J. W. Apperson and a capable corps of assistants, was formally opened for the winter season Monday evening with an enjoyable dinner dance, in which 120 guests and friends from different parts of the Mississippi Coast participated, says the Biloxi Herald.

Socially this was one of the most enjoyable occasions of the present season and those who were fortunate enough to be present spent a very pleasant evening. A very sumptuous repast was served from 6:30 until 12:30, with dancing between the courses, the latter having continued until 1 o'clock in the morning to the strains of music furnished by the Bertucci Buena Vista Orchestra, formerly known as the Original Gulf Coast Jazzers. Dancing was enjoyed in the spacious dining room in the western part of the building, which was prettily decorated for the opening.

Has New Orchestra For Season.

This musical organization has been engaged for the season, during which they will furnish music at the noon hour and evening each day and also play for dances to be held in the hotel on Wednesday evening of each week. In the management of the hotel Mr. Apperson will be assisted by the following: A. W. Strange, former proprietor of the Eastern Hotel, in Chattanooga, assistant manager; C. L. Martin, New Orleans, and J. E. Herrington, Gulfport, clerk; S. C. Fernald, formerly of Chicago, maître d'hotel; Miss Walker, housekeeper; Misses Verna Blackwell and Mary Rudolph, telephone operators.

A number have arrived for the season and registered as guests at the hotel, which also has a large registered list of tourists from different parts of the country, the most prominent of whom will include capitalists from Chicago and Memphis, who were invited to the Coast by Mr. Apperson during his vacation last summer. The Buena Vista has a bright outlook for the winter season, and will remain open indefinitely, with various entertainments given from time to time, the next event being the recital of Mme. Wehrmann-Schaffner and Miss Helen Richards. A very enjoyable New Year's party is also being planned, with private receptions and entertainment.

GOLD AND BLACK ARE COLORS NEW AUTO TAGS.

The new 1924 automobile tags have been received at the sheriff's office and can be secured at any time, though the time limit for the year is extended until February 1, after which a double tax will be charged upon cars purchased before that date.

The new cars have a rich golden background, with black figures, and can be read and distinguishable at a great distance. Mississippi has ordered 140,000 tags for the automobiles in 1925.

General Pershing, in his last annual report as chief of staff, defends the battleships and declares that experience does not warrant their abandonment in favor of aircraft, although he recommends aircraft as a vital adjunct to other branches of the military service in time of war. In this view the general is in conflict with that eminent paper strategist, Arthur Brisbane.

An unexplained explosion on a Canadian Pacific train killed Peter Woregan, head of the Doukobar religious sect, and five others.

FORD DOING THE UNUSUAL AGAIN.

Henry Ford is doing the unusual again.

This time he is building the largest and most powerful electric locomotive in the world, which, when completed, will be used on the Detroit and Ironton Railway, the latest addition to his railway interests, and operating in conjunction with the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad.

This super engine, which is now under construction in the powerhouse at the Highland Park plant of the Ford Motor Company, presents a most important development in the electrification of steam railroads and at the same time a radical departure in locomotive construction.

As might be expected, Mr. Ford has not been restricted by past practice or tendencies in the choice of electrical system and type of motive power unit for the railroad.

The locomotive is not only novel in electrical design, but embodies many new and important ideas in mechanical design. In size it will be prodigious. It will weigh 340 tons, will be 117 feet long, 15 feet high and 10 feet wide. What is more interesting still, it will have 16 250-horsepower motors connected to 16 pairs of driving wheels, and will be capable of hauling a train of 150 or more loaded box cars.

The engine will not be built for speed, the purpose being to use it for freight service exclusively. Its running speed will be 17 miles an hour and its maximum speed 35 miles an hour.

One of the unique features of this great electric motive unit is that it carries its own converter station. This eliminates establishment of sub-stations along the route, a practice at present general in railroad electrification.

Through a regenerative braking system the Ford locomotive will have the ability to develop electric energy at any speed, from the maximum to practically a standstill.

The mechanical parts of the new locomotive are being designed and built by the Ford Motor Company, while the electrical equipment is being built by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, under Ford supervision and according to Ford specifications. Another feature of importance is that the trolley voltage adopted for the Detroit and Ironton railroad electrification is 22,000 volts, 25 cycles, alternating current, a trolley voltage twice as high as any previously used in this country.

Since the reassembling of Congress, new alignments on the Muscle Shoals question have occurred, owing to the withdrawal of the Ford offer and former allies in favor of Ford are now divided on the various propositions before the Senate. Prospects for an early settlement of this vexing problem are not very bright.

"I have been taking Cardui," says Mrs. Lillie Bolton, of Lake Providence, La. "I got down in bad health and lost in weight until I only weighed 120 pounds. I had bad pains in my sides and back and my legs hurt me until I couldn't walk. I stayed in bed half the time. I tried all kinds of medicine, but it did me no good. Finally I tried

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"It seems like it did me good from the very first. After I had taken half a bottle I noticed an improvement. I continued its use and I got better and better. The pains in my legs and sides disappeared and I began to gain in weight until now I weigh 155 pounds and feel better than I ever did in my life. I am perfectly well and strong. I have given it to my girls, too."

Cardui has relieved many kinds of pains and distressing symptoms caused by female troubles. It should help you, too, in the same way. Why not give it a fair trial?

City Managers

New Orleans Item, November 28.
Few realize the growth of the City Manager plan in the United States. Cincinnati is the latest city to adopt that form of government. About 300 municipalities, with 5,000,000 citizens, have adopted the plan. These cities include: Cleveland, Dayton, Pasadena, San Diego, Wichita, Portland (Me.), Grand Rapids, Springfield (O.), Knoxville, Beaumont, Norfolk, Charleston and Wheeling (W. Va.). Cleveland is the largest, with a population of more than 800,000.

Other cities interested in the plan are sending representatives to these cities to study it in operation. The idea spreads. It works well and in harmony with government by commission. Many regard it as a logical development of commission government. If its successful application in these 300 cities continues, within a few years it will be the popular form of municipal government. As matters stand it is giving the ward politicians something to think and worry about.

PAT HARRISON DECLARED MOST AMIABLE OF LIVING SENATORS.

The following story, which declares Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, the "most amiable of living senators," appeared in Whittier's Column, in the Boston Herald of a recent date:

So Pat Harrison's ward, in Gulfport, Miss., were Republicans. We are not surprised at this. We could be surprised at nothing in the home ward of Senator Harrison. This does not spring from want of admiration for this most genial and good-humored of Southern Democrats. It does not spring from any thought that there is anywhere in Gulfport, in Crystal Springs, whence sprung the Harrisonian beginning, or in any other place, any possibility of preference for a colder political philosophy than that of Byron Patten Harrison. Our lack of surprise that his home ward in Gulfport went Republican is not sprung from a suspicion that the ward faltered in appreciation of its most illustrious citizen. The explanation perhaps lies in the fact that Mr. Harrison had so advertised the Republican party in Mississippi that its voters in this most select portion of Gulfport wanted to taste the forbidden fruit.

There are sections in the South where it is understood that Republicans have no souls. There are places in that romantic Democratic region where there is a permanent open season on Republicans. If there were any Republicans. There are regions there where voting the Republican ticket is presumptive evidence of mental abnormality and a challenge to the officials who drive naked wagons. It is in such a region that Pat Harrison lives. In such an atmosphere the senator projected the dangerous spire of curiosity. He stirred a taste for strange experience, and the home ward of Gulfport voted Republican.

But Gulfport would never push a joke too far. And if some imp of the perverse should so far violate traditions and defy sanity as to provoke a Republican victory in Mississippi, by some debacle of reason, some cataclysmic collapse of moral fiber, Pat Harrison should never be defeated without his consent. A consent we can not suppose—there are other and less Democratic partisan sections of the land which would rise to rectify the error and alleviate the pain. If Mississippi ever failed to keep Harrison in the Senate, other and indignant States would adopt him and send him there.

Mr. Harrison is senior United States senator from Mississippi, but his is a larger constituency than that. In all the State there were, by the last census, 1,790,818 persons officially recorded. It is too little for the celebration of Harrison. Were the population of his home State as numerous as that of Massachusetts, with its 3,852,346, or even were it equal to the 10,385,226 of New York, Mississippi might claim to be nearly adequate for the honoring of its present senior senator. Were its population no more than the 77,407 of Nevada, it might aspire to fame for concentrated service by hurling into the vortex of national affairs the statesmanship of a Harrison. Yet Mississippi, or that of New York or Nevada, we could not have the thought of this monarch of amiable partisanship to the bounds of any State line, to the limitations of any segregated millions.

There come dull moments in the Senate of the United States. There come moments when the uniformed might not discover from the immediately available evidence that this place was the abode of brains and the haunt of mental and moral power. There come stages in its progress, and spaces in its inertia, when the callous might assert, and do so, that in the United States Senate there was nought of interest and little of hope. At such a moment, into the midst of such aridity, bursts the not fiery of Harrison. Rising behind that ancient and historic desk once graced by the scholarly and beloved John Sharp Williams, rises the form of the Gentleman from Mississippi. Gone is the waste of the void. Banished is the pessimism of the bore. Mr. Harrison is making a speech.

Senator Harrison is not always kind to the Republicans. He is not always sedate of utterance. He is not always bound by thoughts of compassionate consideration. He has been known to attribute to the Republican party qualities which we would deplore to see manifested by the meanest of fur-bearing animals. He has been heard to lay upon the backs indication of sin as could not comfortably be ascribed to the most abandoned and stout accustomed to torment. Yet all this is forgiven across the aisle. The Republicans like Pat Harrison.

Maybe that is what explains the Republican vote in the home ward of the home city, Gulfport, Miss. It may be that Republican tourists, possibly some of those unceasingly traveling delegations of school teachers who make the United States capital a peripatetic institution of learning, or perhaps some of the delegations that come to Washington seeking higher tariffs for the protection of maple sugar and New England pickles, seduced and dominated by the eloquence of Pat Harrison, went down there to vote for him and for his party; but alas, a Republican an alien here, a Republican still. Once in Gulfport, they voted regular.

But we will not waste time in seeking to explain this defection in the life of a world of facts and politics and Senators. It is enough, in a practical world, to know that in the succeeding six years, and for many years to come, the Senate will have the delight of hearing Harrison.

The Republican party has just won a great victory. We feel that solicitude which springs from friendship and may even accompany stronger emotions, and which compels the hope that pride and arrogance will not walk hand in hand with success. Against such a peril we set Harrison. He will keep the Republican party chastened.

Congratulations to Senator Byron Patten Harrison, the most amiable

RUMOR OF SALE OF SHIP ISLAND.

Local Citizen Watches For Protection of Mississippi Coast From Plagues and Sees Menace.

From the Biloxi Herald.

A Biloxi citizen who has been disturbed by rumors of the sale of Ship Island by the government, and its possible purchase by Louisianians for recreation purposes, as contained in a Washington dispatch, wrote Senator Harrison as follows:

"Dear Pat:

"I am enclosing attached hereto a clipping taken today from the Herald, of Biloxi, a telegram from Washington, written by our friend Paul Wooten, correspondent of the Times-Picayune, under date of December 12, in re the above mentioned rumor of the proposed sale by the government of Ship Island.

"A year or two ago I took occasion to write to the secretary of the treasury in regard to the published sale of Ship Island by the government. The letter was referred to the surgeon general of the army, stating in effect that there was no intention of selling the island and abandoning the quarantine station situated on it. That repairs were under way with the purpose of keeping up the quarantine station, etc. I am informed that the machinery and material was sent to the quarantine station and that it was put in proper repair for the general protection of this coast country.

"Please communicate with the treasury or the war department and find out if there is any idea of abandoning the Ship Island quarantine station as an active unit of protection of this country.

"If the U. S. government has the slightest intention of abandoning this as a properly maintained quarantine station, I want to at once get the governor of the State to take action at once to take over this station, by purchase or otherwise, and maintain an ample station for the protection of this Mississippi country.

"I really do not believe that the U. S. government has any intention of abandoning this station, but if it has not, then please ask Ole Paul where he gets his hints from. He is periodically coming in and are more or less disturbing.

"If you will permit me to make a suggestion, I will ask that you inquire of the treasury (or the war department) for full details as to the future of the Ship Island quarantine station, the money expended on it in the past two years for repairs and upkeep, the condition of the property at present, the degree of efficiency of the buildings, etc., etc., for the care of possible fever, typhoid, plague, Asiatic cholera, etc., that might be blown in here by some storm, or drifted in on our shores.

"If the United States government is going to abandon this station, it is very clearly the duty of this State to take over and maintain it. I am well aware of your special interest in this part of the State and it is with a good deal of satisfaction that I know you will answer every call that is reasonably within the line of your official action."

ABOUT WOMEN.

Miss Ruth Steadman sang for a radio broadcasting station in Memphis two years ago, her voice captivating D. M. Knox, of Shreveport, La. He secured her address and began a correspondence, which resulted in their recent marriage.

Claims of Mrs. Peter Johnson, of Worcester, Mass., that she served as a soldier in the Civil War and later as a sailor, are being investigated by the Red Cross.

Miss Margaret V. Pocheck, age 21, of West Somerville, Mass., is a minister of the gospel, wears her hair bobbed and is a thoroughly modern young woman of the best sort.

Mrs. Sophie Lyons Burke, former notorious woman criminal, who later reformed and became wealthy, left about $200,000 in trust for the benefit of children of convicts, by her will, recently probated in Detroit.

Miss Nora Sterry, school teacher in the prominent plague district of Los Angeles, has been presented with a gold medal by the Mexican residents of the vicinity, for her heroic work during the epidemic.

Mrs. Marcelle Guillon, awarded the title of champion seamstress of Paris, will receive a salary equivalent to $2,500 a year.

Miss Sibyl Overton, declared to be the "prettiest woman physician in England," is the first of her sex to be appointed medical inspector of factory employees.

Mrs. Mary A. Vaitutius, of Mahoney City, Pa., aged 101, made a six-hour automobile trip to attend the silver wedding anniversary of one daughter and the golden anniversary of another, in Atlantic City.

Mrs. William Oumette shot a large timber wolf near Park Falls, Wis., and collected $30 bounty.

A. L. FLURRY COMING TO GULF COAST.

A. L. Flurry, ex-superintendent of schools, of Jackson, Miss., is coming to the Gulf Coast to represent the Davis-Sanburn Manufacturing Company, of Danvers, Mass., selling tailored shirts for men only. Mr. Flurry traveled only one month as a salesman for the company, but he has been successful in securing a large number of orders.

The first of March, 1924, Mr. Flurry was offered a position with the Reliance Life Insurance Company, of Pittsburg, Pa., the originator of "Perfect Protection" policies. Mr. Flurry resigned a position with Davis-Sanburn Manufacturing Company to accept proposition with Reliance Life Insurance Company, and began work with the Reliance Life on the first of March, making headquarters temporarily at Hattiesburg, office being in Carter building of Hub City, Miss.

Mr. Flurry, for a beginner, has made a wonderful record as a life insurance salesman, due to the fact that he paid for his first trip to the Gulf Coast, and having sold and paid for $127,000.00 of business up to date since the first of March, 1924, and by the first of the year he will have paid for $150,000.00 of business. This is an excellent record for the first ten months' work.

It may be of interest to know that Mr. Flurry, together with Mr. I. A. Stewart, of Hattiesburg, another insurance salesman, are now completing a business trip en route from Hattiesburg to Ocean Springs and Pascagoula, Miss., Mobile, Ala.; Pensacola, Fla.; Panama City, Fla.; and other points in the Gulf Coast, in interest and behalf of Reliance Life Insurance Company.

Those doubting it will be interesting to the many friends of Mr. Flurry up and down the Mississippi Coast to know that he will be permanently located on the Coast between the first and fifteenth of the year; headquarters and office will be in Gulfport, and the following towns will be worked by Mr. Flurry: Biloxi, Pass Christian, Gulfport, Mississippi City, Biloxi, Ocean Springs, Pascagoula, Moss Point, Eastabourne, and Krcolo.

It will afford much pleasure for Mr. Flurry to aid and assist any and every one in connection with any problem to do so relative to life insurance, whether or not he profits directly or indirectly, or not fail to call on him at any and all times.

Up to the time of this trouble he was always a good, hard-working, faithful man. That he is a veteran of the Civil War, and that he was once a prisoner of war, was a fact which was done by him with a brick in an old sack or cloth that was on the floor and the brick being thrown across the room at the negro who was killed.

That the killing and the murder of a man was a fact and a trouble existing at the time between the two men was a fact which was done by him with a brick in an old sack or cloth that was on the floor and the brick being thrown across the room at the negro who was killed.

LAST WEEK OF THE YEAR.

This issue of Echo Last of 1924. Getting Out Paper Is Expensive. Unanimous Local Support Necessary—Best Wishes for New Year.

This will be the last issue of The Echo in December and the last in this year, completing the thirty-third year of the paper's existence. Our next issue will be on Saturday, January 3, 1925, the first number for the new year.

With the beginning of the new year many subscription accounts will fall due and a check to cover same will be duly appreciated. The subscription label on your copy of the paper tells the time to which the subscription is paid. Our overhead is unusually heavy. No newspaper with a restricted territory and like-wise patronage has a like tremendous cost of production. Hence every dollar due this paper will be doubly appreciated.

We are grateful for the patronage of the past year, even though some of our friends and other business fit to occasionally send out of town for printing while The Echo, year in and year out, is ever, boasting home and the merchant, regardless of the cost of production, preaching the creed of Buy at Home.

Our success the past year has not been measured entirely by the money standard, but by the loyalty of those who stand by the town, its press and the standards which mean more substantial prosperity and a better place to live in.

The Echo wishes for one and all, regardless of who's who, a Bright and Prosperous New Year; may our ideals and most ardent wishes be realized, and may Bay St. Louis and vicinity get all that its good and progressive citizens go after. We think 1925 will be good to Bay St. Louis and Hancock county.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Horton are spending today in New Orleans, combining business with pleasure.

Mr. Leo W. Seal and baby, Leo, are spending the holidays at Logtown, visiting Mrs. Seal's sister, Mrs. John Weston, and family.

Mr. Albin S. Spiess, Jr., came out from New Orleans today for a stay of several days with local friends, house guest of Mr. Charles Thiel and family, on the Waveland beach front.

Material is on the ground for the building of W. A. McDonald's new wholesale business to be located at the intersection of Second and Estabrook streets, mention of which was recently made in the news columns of The Echo.

Mr. Harry Inscore, with the firm of J. N. Wisner & Co., of New Orleans, and Texas traveling representative for that firm, is spending the Christmas holidays with Bay St. Louis friends and is registered at the Weston.

Mr. W. O. Sylvester, whose orchard and truck farm in Second street is one of the more successful hereabouts, sends The Echo a quantity of Success Peaches, that for size and flavor are excellent. Mr. Sylvester, despite the long drought of the year, experienced more than ordinary success.
